

Dbz Goku vs Frieza attack idea

When Frieza was dashing at Goku with his 100% form after avoiding Goku's Kamehameha, Goku could've made a slapping motion and directed the Kamehameha towards Frieza from his right.

When Frieza would fly out of the force of the beam, he'd try not only dashing at Goku but hiding a Ki Enzon next to Goku's Kamehameha so that he'd only focus on his dash and when Goku would try to direct his Kamehameha at him again, the beam would get away from his Ki Enzon, which would be the time for him to slice Goku in half.

However, Goku let Frieza hit him and then directed the Kamehameha to underneath his feet to propel himself upwards while Frieza was pushing him back.

When Goku would see the Ki Enzon, he'd shoot out a barrage of Ki balls and surround himself with them so if a Ki Enzon went through them, he'd hear one of his Ki balls exploding or being cut in half; otherwise, it would slow down the disks because Frieza would have to move them in a way that wouldn't hit them, and if Frieza tried attacking, Goku would direct some of those balls towards Frieza with his right hand while shrinking the circle but also adding more blasts with his left.
